District No. 22 - Northern Ohio - William A. Bohnard, Director

Project No. 19 - A. F. ^CSHUG HOUSE, Monroeville,
Huron County, Ohio.

Built 1813 by Seth P. Brown. Present owner, Albert B. ^SShug. Small shallow cellar under kitchen, 1-1/2 story, stone foundation, hewn timber frame, split shingle roof, lapped and flush siding, hand made doors and trim, framing timber, doors, trim, all black walnut. Lot faces on Brown Street, house faces on a park.

"The land on which this house was built was originally owned by a Mr. Frink, who contracted land in Ridgfield Township in 1811. In 1812 Frink sold the land to Seth Brown who at once began clearing and planting the first corn in the township.

In the summer of this same year Brown went to Monroe, Michigan, where he was married and returned in the spring of 1813. The Indians, however, were very troublesome and he began the battle of his life in this the first house in the township.

Mr. Brown thinking of his good fortune at Monroe, Michigan, applied the name to the village of his creation, thus the name Monroeville."

April, 1934.
